University of Marburg

Germany

One of the things that impressed me the most about Marburg was that it is a university based city with a wonderful cultural structure. With its historical background and castles, every minute I felt like being in a Harry Potter movie. Also university's wide range of facilities has a great impact on the development of the students who come here. My favorite part of Marburg University was the library; I can easily say it's the largest and most beautiful library I've ever seen.. This university is perfect for a student!
